Information on the processing or your contact data for sending a message to our mailbox.

For what purpose?

We only require access to the contact details necessary to reply to your request.

Why can we do so?

Because your request establishes the origin of legitimate interest of the company to answer you, and so it is necessary to process your contact data.

Who else has access to your data?

Your data will not be provided to third parties under any circumstances, but it is possible that BODEGAS FILLABOA, S.A. may not be the most suitable Company in the business line of the Masaveu Group to help you in certain cases, and so you may be referred to another winery or to MASAVEU BODEGAS, S.L. to provide you with information that most suits your needs.

In any event, on the Group website you can find information on the Group's different activities and go straight to a specific company by accessing the contact form on the web page.

How long will your data be kept for?

The data shall be deleted once your request has been met unless it has resulted in another kind of relationship or interest.

Information on the processing of images captured by video surveillance systems.

For what purpose?

Video surveillance images are processed for security purposes.

Why can they do so?

The processing of video surveillance images is based on the legitimate interest of the winery to protect their infrastructure and facilities, and to guarantee the safety of their employees and all people entering their premises.

Who else has access to your data?

The video surveillance and security service is provided by the private security company SERCOINFO SEGURIDAD, S.L., which has access to the data through BODEGAS FILLABOA, S.A.

The images may be provided upon request to Law Enforcement Authorities or judges and courts in the course of investigations or proceedings, or when necessary to exercise or protect the rights of the company or third parties that may be affected.

For how long will your data be kept?

Your data will be erased within one month after its recording, with the exception of those images or recordings which must be kept if required during the course of an investigation, until such investigation concludes or if responsibilities are established arising from the recorded activities.

Information on the processing of contact and identifying data of companies, business people and professionals.

For what purpose?

They are processed in order to keep in contact with companies, business people and professionals that collaborate with BODEGAS FILLABOA, S.A. or to whom the MASAVEU Group wineries sell their products or to identify the legal representatives of those companies in the event of establishing legal relationships.

Why can they do so?

Because the relationship established with clients, distributors and suppliers determines the existence of legitimate interest to maintain fluid contact with the company, business person or professional through its employees and to enable them to verify the representative capacity of their representatives in legal transactions.

Who else has access to your data?

Your data will not be provided to third parties, except when required by law.

For how long will your data be kept?

The data shall be maintained for the duration of the relationship with the Company, business person or professional and as regards legal documents while they are in effect or any responsibility may derive from them, or if they are required for exercising rights or defending the company against claims.

Information on the processing of images taken during oenotourism visits.

For what purpose?

To involve our clients and visitors in our history by making them part of it through different graphic documents which shall be compiled over the years.

Why can they do so?

Because by indicating the use of the photographs at the time they are being taken and the social media where they may be diffused, and not having objected to us taking the photo, you are giving consent, however you may object at any time if you change your mind.

Who else has access to you data?

The photos may be published in the news section of the webpage of the winery or the winery, and on the social media site, they participate in: Facebook, Instagram, Twitter or Flickr.

How long will your data be kept for?

The images will go on to form part of the photographic archive of the winery, which is part of our history, and so will not be deleted unless requested to do so. They shall be deleted from social media as they become no longer topical or if their deletion is requested.
